Pamela Bradford Green

Phuoc Thai

amela Bradford Green was born at home to James and Elizabeth Bradford in rural Mississippi where her grandparents research focus at NASA's John H. Glenn Research Center a were sharecroppers. In 1974, her parents moved the family to Michita in search of a better life and job opportunities.

She was a TRIO Upward Bound Wichita Prep participant from Thai's area of expertise is in microgravity behavior. 1985-1990 where she represented the program at several state conferences. She enjoyed participating in after school tutoring sessions, Saturday sessions, and the summer components. SheHowever, he did not want one provided by the communist was selected as mistress of ceremonies for three talent shows. regime in Vietnam where life was diff cult for his family. He Green graduated from Wichita East High School in 1990 and was awarded the Grow Your Own Teacher Scholarship.

After completing two years at Wichita State, Bradford Green decided to transfer to Newman University where she graduated with honors in 1994, majoring in elementary education. At the time, she was the first person in her immediate family to graduate from college.

Bradford Green is currently a 23-year veteran elementary school teacher in the Wichita public school system. She has taught pre-K, kindergarten, and frst through ffth grades. In addition to teaching, she has served as elementary grade level will celebrate 25 years working as a NASA researcher. chair, school age program para, school age program assistant director, school age program director, district trainer of trainers, transportation monitor, cooperating teacher, mentor teacher, site technology specialist, leadership team, after school proud," Thai says, "to help the really needy in the city." program tutor, summer school teacher, safety patrol, yearbook. Last March, Thai proudly greeted and cheered on the Shock coordinator, and AVID elementary classroom teacher. She also men's basketball team in the NCAA basketball tournament in uel technology is Aerospace Engineer Phuoc Thai's curre Lewis Field in Cleveland, OH. Thai's research could lead to development of fueling stations in space, a f rst step toward long-term human exploration missions beyond low Earth orb

As a youth, Thai remembers desperately wanting an educati vividly recalls seeing video footage of a man walking on the moon in the home of a family member who had the only blad and-white TV in the village. "I was so excited," Thai says, "I said, 'one day I'll work for that company."

After migrating to Wichita, Thai was selected for the Upward Bound Wichita Prep program. The experience and motivatio he received from UB inspired his future educational and care accomplishments. Thai holds an electrical engineering degre from Wichita State and a master's degree in computer syste from Cleveland State University. He landed his dream job at NASA after graduating from Wichita State in 1990. Soon, he

In 2005, Thai was NASA's on-loan executive to the United Way where he has helped raise funds for area charities. "I w Dayton, OH.